

Bizmatica establishes strategic cooperation Austrian company mquadr.at Milano, 11/07/2011 – In order to provide their customers with the most advanced client application software available, Bizmatica has established a strategic partnership with Viennese software manufacturer mquadr.at (www.mquadr.at).

mquadr.at, founded in 2000, has since then specialised in the development of installation, configuration and auto-repair software for broadband internet connections. The result is a consistent, modular and fully customizable product range from easy-to-use, self-service client solutions for any access technology connection to the integration of clients into provider-specific, ACS-based networks.

mquadr.at's products are in operation with more than 30 well-known Internet Service Providers (such as Deutsche Telekom AG, Swisscom, KPN, A1Telekom Austria, Telekom Slovenjie, Tele2 Group, UPC Group, Cablecom and Kabel Deutschland, to name but a few), serving over 22 million internet users all around Europe.

The company's core competencies involve – alongside the development of highly convergent client internet software with a clear focus on simple operation speed and security – cost and time-efficient project management as well as consulting services on all issues relating to implementation and product selection.

Within the scope of the partnership, Bizmatica will not only promote mquadr.at products on the Italian telecom market, but also benefit from mquadr.at's technological and market-oriented expertise in software design and implementation.

By having access to perfect and future-proof solutions for Internet Service Providers and Mobile Operators, Bizmatica will not only be able to satisfy the needs of their customers and meet their requirements with regard to optimised B2C processes, but also help them to anticipate market trends.

Bizmatica is looking forward to cooperating with mquadr.at and considers the collaboration as being crucial for an increased market presence that would contribute to the company's constant growth.
